

Research Reading Log

Part 1 - What Are You Reading?

Author(s)
Title of source (e.g., name of article, web page, etc.)
Title of container (e.g., name of magazine, journal, website)
Title of second container [if applicable] (e.g., database where you found this article)

Publisher
Page numbers [if applicable]		Volume # [if applicable]
Version number [if applicable]		Issue # [if applicable]
Any other details about your source (URL, how you found it, etc.)

Part 2 - Citation for the end of your paper (Works Cited, References, etc.)

Need help? Check your library's style guides or visit <https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/>.

--

Part 3 - Your Metacognitive Log

What the text says	What's going through your mind	In-text citation for this
"Ice cream is the best"	Hmm, how are they going to prove this is true?	(Fisher, 2018)

Need more room? Continue your log on additional paper!

Part 4 - Summary & Next Steps

What I learned from this piece was...

After reading this piece, I want to learn more about...